“A Sense of Place: The Southern Gardens of Chapel Hill”

To celebrate the unique diversity of gardens in greater Chapel Hill, the Chapel Hill Spring Garden Tour will feature both the breadth and depth of nine remarkable gardens. Ranging from hidden bungalow gardens to majestic landscapes, spacious rural wooded gardens to urban design, the tour will showcase the “miracles of spring” in both elegant and whimsical presentations.

As a bonus, visits to the North Carolina Botanical Gardens and the Mary Scroggs Elementary School Garden in Southern Village are included. The Botanical Gardens feature native plants and was 2011’s “Best Park/Greenway” in Chapel Hill. The student/community garden at Scroggs Elementary enhances learning about sustainable gardening through a seed-to-sow experience, engendering a sense of place at an early age. Proceeds from the tour benefit the North Carolina Botanical Garden and the educational/community service projects of the Chapel Hill Garden Club.
